Could Increase Boiler Output

It is argued that it is incredible that the makers of boilers and engines, if properly mobilized, cannot make them faster than we can build ships.

In the meantime the shipping situation gets worse and worse. The army transport service is reported to be almost frantic. It will need 500 ships more than are in sight owing to the scrapping of all plans on account of the unexpected rushing of vast armiese to France this spring and summer, and is said to be contemplating building ships itself.—The only field open to it, however, is concrete ships and the action of the Shipping Board makes it impossible for the army to contract for them.

Summed we this is the account of the spring and summer and in the state of the summer and its said to be contemplating building ships itself.—The only field open to it, however, is concrete ships and the action of the Shipping Board makes it impossible for the army to contract for them.

between the ages of fifty and seventy. crete ship idea is now apparently "cabined, cribbed and confined' to the complete satisfaction of ts opponents. The Shipping Board has decided to refuse to permit any private building of concrete ships, even small ones. Everything concrete except barges of 1,000 tons or less is banned. The output of concrete ships is thus confined to the five small yards already established, which five are now practically government yards, with the contractors seeing as agents.

Camden Shipyard Gets $30,000,000 Contract

PHILADELPHIA, June 21.-The Emergency Fleet Corporation to-night announced the awarding of contracts amounting to $30,000,000 to the New York Shipbuilding Corporation, Cam-

York Shipbuilding' Corporation, Camden, N. J., for the extension of its present facilities and for the construction of four big troop ships.

Ten million dollars will be used for huilding four additional ways, each to be 100 feet wide and 700 feet long, large enough to construct vessels with a length of 625 feet. It is expected these will be completed by the first of the year, when the keels of the four troop ships will be laid. The four ships will cost $20,000,000 and will average about 10,000 tons deadweight, and will be larger than those now being built at Hog Island. It is planned to complete them in ten months after their keels are laid.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 21.—Construction of the new ten-way ship-yards of the Union Ironworks Division of the Bethlehem Shipbuilding Corporation in Alameda, Cal., was begun today immediately upon authorization of the project by the Emergency Fleet Corporation, it was announced by J. J. Tynan, general manager of the works. The new yards will cost between $15,000,000 and $20,000,000, Tynan said, and will furnish employment to 12,000 men.
